Just One Man's Opinion by Mark Hoffmann

The "Circle of Life" Begins Anew at Sports Leisure

How do we decide what trips go in the catalog, what destinations we will offer in the coming year? How does that all happen?

Perhaps our travelers would like a little insight into the 60 days before they see our "new baby," our annual catalog of extended tours (and cruises). This year it debuts on Saturday, September 14th (details on the front page), and will be mailed the following week to those not attending Preview Day.

For a number of months now, we have been holding meetings, giving each of our tour directors the opportunity to put forth their ideas. At Sports Leisure Vacations, we have a very unique business model, in that most of our tour directors plan their own trips. We don't have, as other companies often do, a group of tour planners who only work in the office organizing tours. By having the planner be the tour director, we feel the quality of the experience for the traveler goes up significantly (and the chances for problems on the road drop as well).

So Scott, Ramona, Clayton, Chris, Michael, Donnie, Patricia and even Jim, have shared where they would like to take you next year. I've scoured the tour evaluations to add and/or support destinations you have requested.

Once in a while, long standing favorites are given a "rest." Victoria, BC, and Washington, DC, are two you won't find on the schedule next year, for just that reason, Chris/Clayton have decided to give them a year off. It should be noted both already have plans for new and improved versions of tours to those destinations for 2021. We have more than a handful of "new/back from a rest" destinations to entice even the most experienced traveler ready for the 2020 schedule.

Other factors: Two major trips cannot depart on the same day unless they are at least two hours apart (ditto for returning trips), because our friends at Coastal Breeze who provide transportation have a limited number of cars. We have shifted many trips from July and August which head to destinations which could be impacted by wildfires to earlier in the summer. Because of increased heat, we are being careful about where we go after mid-June. Overcrowding at some popular spots have made it necessary to shift to shoulder seasons to insure you have a quality experience during your visit.

Each year, we work hard to find some great regional trips for those who might not be in a position to travel across the country or around the world, because of the expense and/or physical demands of such travel.

Over the next two months, the team at SLV will put in some long hours to shape our Dream Book, our catalog, for 2020; and to create the Tour Preview Day presentations. I believe I speak for my staff when I say the catalog is a labor of love for us, because our job is to make your dreams come true. That opportunity comes with great responsibility, for after all, they are your dreams. It's not just a PR line, it's our reality.

Make your travelers dreams come true, offer them a good time and fair value, they will come back, and most importantly, they will tell their friends. On the other hand, treat people unfairly and with indifference, offer them a product that isn't worth the extra dollars they paid for it, and you will be soon gone from the landscape.

That is part of some important wisdom gained in 40 years of owning and operating a small tour company. Be a part of the community, give back where you can, don't try to be something you aren't. Some might say the model has worked pretty well. I would tell you it is still a work in progress!

You and those who preceded you, along with some dedicated team members, have made it an awesome and still ongoing ride! Thank you for your support. Hope to see you at Tour Preview Day. If you can't make it, a limited number of catalogs will be available at the office Monday after the event, and of course, one will be mailed to every person receiving this newsletter.

Thank you all, and especially to anyone whose travel days are winding down, thank you. Looking at old passenger lists over the past few months has made me realize how many people have supported our little company for so many years. Hope to see you on the radio, Sundays at 3pm.

And so it goes...

The Barber Pole, or Once Over Lightly

This is a place to find information of importance regarding your travels...

Overcrowding at Popular Tourism Destinations

If you pay attention to the media, you have likely heard this story, maybe even more than once. Local attraction Daffodil Hill, which had been open to the public for free for decades, was so overwhelmed their opening weekend, they closed immediately for the season, and have indicated they may be out of the daffodil viewing business forever. A remote canyon in Iceland was forced to close indefinitely after a horde of tourists showed up, based on seeing the canyon featured in a music video.

The point to this is this is two-fold. If you are traveling independently, or know someone who is, buy tickets for popular "bucket list" attractions in advance. Buy "time-dated" tickets, allowing you entry at a specific time. This is one of the reasons some folks choose to purchase packaged travel from a tour operator like Sports Leisure. We do that work for you, doing the homework and making the difficult reservations. In recent times, that has become a tougher and more time consuming job. But it's one of the reasons you pay more to travel with an organized group, with a reputable tour operator who delivers on the promises made in the brochure.

Starting Earlier

One thing we are doing to fight back against crowds at popular destinations is to start our days earlier. By getting to the first attraction on the schedule right when it opens, we get the jump on those who were too lazy to get out of the sack.

In some cases, this allows us to have a break in mid-to-late afternoon before going out for the evening, or just finishing our structured itinerary a little earlier in the day. This allows those who want to keep going to see optional/additional attractions on their own, particularly in major cities. When we are at beautiful resort properties, the down time during the afternoon allows for enjoyment of the facility and even a walk around the grounds. We know from your comments these things are important to some, but not all, of our travelers.

Ethan Bortnick Concert

If you are a viewer of KVIE, you may be familiar with a young performer named Ethan Bortnick. He began performing at 10, and now, at 18, he is an accomplished singer, pianist, composer, songwriter, actor and musician. He will perform at the Crest Theater, on Fri., Sept. 20. We are offering a package which includes transportation and the ticket for $105. If you would like the ticket only, they are available in limited numbers without the bus for $65. Reservations are limited to one bus and you can meet the bus in Citrus Heights, at Arden or downtown. It is rare that we get an opportunity like this. Ethan is quite the showman and performs music across multiple generations.

If You are Expecting a Ride Upon Your Return from a Day Trip

We have long had a policy upon returning on a coach trip that the bus doesn't pull away until we can see that everyone is safely to their vehicle and begin to pull away. Many of our travelers are ladies, often alone, and we don't want someone alone in a parking lot at night if we can help it.

Some folks who travel with us use ride shares or taxis to get to/from their home and the pick-up point. If you are one of those people, please check with your Tour Director so you will know when you are 10-15 minutes from your stop. That's the appropriate time to start lining up a ride share, or updating with your ride to make sure he/she will be at the drop spot about the same time as the bus. Remember there is the diner at Arden and the Raley's store at Antelope, should you find yourself waiting on a late friend who is picking you up.

The point: We don't want to leave you, but we also would prefer not to delay the rest of the travelers. Working together, we can prevent that and keep safety as a priority.

Know a Young Student in Need of Help?

We annually award at least one scholarship to a student looking for help. The applicant should have a tie to a Sports Leisure Traveler (parent, grandparent, friend). Applications are due by August 26th. $2,000 in scholarship funds are awarded. For more information, contact Clayton at Clayton.Whitehead@sportsleisure.com, or call him at the office.

Proud members of the
